

MONTHLY BRIEF

HISTORICAL EDITION · Historical edition, published on 8 September 2026 using data for July 2025.

Tourism & Hospitality Brief

---

Portugal, July 2025: overnight stays +3.9% and total revenue +10.0% year on year.

July accelerated: overnight stays up 3.9% and total revenue up 10.0%. Yet net bed occupancy lost 1.3 pp and RevPAR (+5.1%) trailed ADR (+5.6%): capacity grew faster than demand.

Paulo Braga

Hospitality Real Estate Advisor

Portugal | July 2025

Historical edition v1.0 - revised data

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

July accelerated growth and diluted occupancy

MAIN CONCLUSION

Overnight stays accelerated to +3.9% and total revenue to +10.0%, but net bed occupancy lost 1.3 pp and RevPAR came in below ADR.

Overnight-stay growth accelerated in July: 9.4 million, 3.9% more than a year earlier, and 3.4 million guests (+4.5%). Both sides of demand contributed, with 2.9 million resident stays (+6.9%, against +5.9% in June) and 6.5 million non-resident stays (+2.7%).

No calendar effect was flagged, but the month's changes were later revised, overnight stays from +3.5% to +3.9% and total revenue from +10.6% to +10.0%. Total revenue reached EUR 891.1 million and room revenue EUR 701.6 million (+9.2%), with RevPAR at EUR 101.1 (+5.1%), ADR at EUR 151.8 (+5.6%) and net bed occupancy at 58.1%, 1.3 pp lower.

This was more revenue over capacity that filled less well, and that difference is what separates the market from the individual asset.

KEY INDICATORS

Revenue accelerating, occupancy diluting

|                                                                            |                                                                                     |                                                                                          |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| GUESTS 3.4 M +4.5% YoYrevised change | OVERNIGHT STAYS 9.4 M +3.9% YoYrevised change | TOTAL REVENUE EUR 891.1 M +10.0% YoYrevised change |
| ROOM REVENUE EUR 701.6 M +9.2% YoY        | REVPAR EUR 101.1 +5.1% YoY                         | NET BED OCCUPANCY 58.1% -1.3 pp YoY                     |

Reading: total revenue (+10.0%) ran well ahead of overnight stays (+3.9%), yet RevPAR (+5.1%) came in below ADR (+5.6%) and net bed occupancy lost 1.3 pp; the divergence is no longer between volume and value but between aggregate revenue and revenue per room.

DEMAND

Both sides of demand rose, residents faster

Resident overnight stays climbed to 2.9 million (+6.9%) and non-resident stays to 6.5 million (+2.7%). The ten leading source markets accounted for 73.8% of non-resident stays, with the United Kingdom keeping the lead at 18.2% of the non-resident total and +1.8%, after -1.1% in June. Poland stood out at +14.0% and the United States at +12.3%; Spain had the largest decrease (-10.0%), and France, Brazil and the Netherlands all came in at -3.0%.

Change in overnight stays by source market

July 2025, year-on-year change

Statistics Portugal, Tourism Activity - Flash Estimates, July 2025.

REGIONS

Gains in every region, with the largest ones lagging

Change in overnight stays by region

July 2025, year-on-year change

Statistics Portugal, Tourism Activity - Flash Estimates, July 2025.

Overnight stays increased in every region, the strongest gains in Alentejo (+9.8%) and Madeira (+7.2%), followed by the Setúbal Peninsula (+5.6%). At the other end were the two largest regions, the Algarve and Greater Lisbon, both at +1.9%. In Madeira the advance rested on residents (+48.5%), with non-residents at 0.0%.

REGION IN FOCUS

The Algarve and Greater Lisbon, the two largest regions by overnight stays, added just 1.9% each, well behind Alentejo (+9.8%) and Madeira (+7.2%).

OPERATING PERFORMANCE

RevPAR lagged behind ADR

Portugal, tourist accommodation establishments.

|                                                                       |                                                                                          |                                                                      |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------|
| ADR EUR 151.8 +5.6% YoY              | REVPAR EUR 101.1 +5.1% YoY                              | NET BED OCCUPANCY 58.1% -1.3 pp YoY |
| NET ROOM OCCUPANCY 66.6% -0.3 pp YoY | TOTAL REVENUE EUR 891.1 M +10.0% YoYrevised change | ROOM REVENUE EUR 701.6 M +9.2% YoY  |

ADR rose to EUR 151.8 (+5.6%), but RevPAR stopped at EUR 101.1 (+5.1%). Net bed occupancy eased 1.3 pp to 58.1% and net room occupancy 0.3 pp to 66.6%. Total revenue of EUR 891.1 million (+10.0%) and room revenue of EUR 701.6 million (+9.2%) moved up mainly because there was more to sell, not because each unit earned proportionally more.

REAL ESTATE LENS

More revenue, less revenue per unit

FACT

Overnight stays +3.9%, total revenue +10.0%, room revenue +9.2%, ADR +5.6%, RevPAR +5.1% and net bed occupancy -1.3 pp.

INTERPRETATION

When RevPAR rises less than ADR and net bed occupancy drops 1.3 pp, aggregate revenue growth does not reach the individual asset in the same proportion. July 2025 was a month of market expansion, not necessarily of better performance per establishment.

IMPLICATION

Before treating +10.0% revenue growth as an underwriting benchmark, measure the asset's own RevPAR and its exposure: Spain came in at -10.0%, the two largest regions at +1.9% and Alentejo at +9.8%.

OUTLOOK

Three signals to watch in August

|    |                                                                               |
|----|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 01 | Whether net bed occupancy recovers the 1.3 pp lost in July.                   |
| 02 | Whether Poland (+14.0%) and the United States (+12.3%) keep the pace.         |
| 03 | Whether the Algarve and Greater Lisbon move above +1.9% at the season's peak. |

SOURCES

Statistics Portugal, Tourism Activity - Flash Estimates, July 2025, released 29 August 2025. Statistics Portugal, Tourism Activity - Flash Estimates, August 2025, released 30 September 2025. Year-on-year changes revised for the preceding month.

Levels from the INE flash release of 29 August 2025; year-on-year changes revised in the release of 30 September 2025.

Paulo Braga

Hospitality Real Estate Advisor